Welcome to our Sunday Liturgy at St. John's.
Today: Fourteenth in Ord. Time

In today's second reading – Paul speaks of being given a 'thorn in the flesh'. And that 'thorn' is a bit like the newly-ordained priest today, photographed with his bishop, with his proud parents, temporarily glamorised because he is one of the few. But very soon, reality! Seminary supports have vanished; that same bishop now, less paternal, cynical colleagues, his congregation apathetic. For those harbingers of gloom, decline is inevitable. Paul felt just like our priest today. Three times Paul thought about giving up, but then that re-assurance. 'My grace is enough for you.' When human weakness wilts, Lord that is when I put my hand in yours. I am not afraid anymore.'

When at church - please wear a mask - thank you!

Gardening the Soul

From the smallest particle of creation is a revelation of God; but we need to see with the eyes of the heart if we are to read the wind, the sand, the stars, people, beneath the first level of appearance.

There are surprises and special gifts to help us all make this transition, from the eyes in our head to the eyes of our heart. If we spend time contemplating anything it is transformed – every weed becomes a flower, every grey morning an awakening, every wave of the ocean the heartbeat of the universe – and we get a glimpse of the divine.

Questions People Ask!

Q. Why can't we have a simple idea of God without the complications of the three divine persons?

A. If something is true, it is better to recognise it. We need some understanding of the Blessed Trinity to appreciate how Jesus was sent by the Father and returned to the Father, and to appreciate the role of the Holy Spirit. At Mass, by the power of the Holy Spirit we join with Jesus who took our human nature to himself, went through death and resurrection to his return to the Father. We render all glory to the Father, through the Son, in the power of the Holy Spirit.

It's good to laugh...! Dead Hare...

A beautiful blonde woman driving down the highway sees a man crying at the side of the road. She asks the man what's wrong? 'I feel terrible' says the man. 'I've accidentally killed this poor creature.' The blonde says, not to worry and pulling a can of hair spray out of her car, she sprays the contents on the dead hare. The hare immediately jumps up, waves its paw at the two of them and hops off down the road, waving again and again. The man is astonished and asks what was in the can? The woman turns the can so that the man can read the label. It says, Hair Spray – restores life to dead hair, adds permanent wave!!!
